- Reformed Presbyterian Church of North America (RPCNA, Scottish Covenanters)
- Reformed Presbytery in North America (Scottish Covenanters)
- Southern Baptist Convention

Although most churches in the Southern Baptist Convention cannot be described as Reformed, the Baptist Faith and Message is open enough to allow for Reformed Baptist churches. These Reformed Baptist churches generally also affirm the 1689 Baptist Confession of Faith. The Founders Ministries is a group of Southern Baptists that assert that the founding of the Southern Baptist Convention had placed the denomination within the Reformed tradition.

- Sovereign Grace Churches (Credobaptist, charismatic)
- United Church of Canada
- United Church of Christ

The United Church of Christ was formed in 1957 as a union bringing together the majority of Congregational churches in the US, the (German) Reformed Church in the United States, the (German) Evangelical Synod of North America (a body descended from the Reformed-Lutheran Evangelical Church of the Prussian Union), and the Christian Connection (a restorationist movement).
